

Novugen Partners with Monash University to Inspire Future Pharmacists Through Industry Workshop 26 April 2025

On 26 April 2025, Novugen had the honour of partnering with Monash University Malaysia for the Pharmaceutical Industry Workshop titled “Unlocking Opportunities: Career Exploration in the Corporate Pharmaceutical Sales and Manufacturing Industry.” Held at Monash University Malaysia, the event offered an enlightening experience for over 70 pharmacy and pharmaceutical science students eager to explore diverse career opportunities within the pharmaceutical sector.

The primary goal of the workshop was to equip students with the knowledge needed to navigate the evolving pharmaceutical industry. Key speakers from Novugen, Ms. Felicia Tan and Mr. Low Kee Min, shared their practical advice and career guidance, providing in-depth insights into the industry’s growth potential, emerging trends, and the crucial roles pharmacists play in corporate settings.

The session was meticulously organized by Ms. Azita Mohamed, whose dedication ensured the event was both meaningful and engaging. Many students expressed their gratitude for the insightful session, noting that it sparked their interest and inspired them to pursue careers within the pharmaceutical industry. Looking ahead, Novugen remains committed to strengthening university collaborations as part of our efforts to nurture and empower local young talent for the future of healthcare.
