

Novugen Signs MoU with Monash University

Novugen recently signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Monash University, reinforcing our commitment to advancing pharmaceutical research, talent development, and knowledge exchange. This partnership aims to support joint research initiatives, industry-driven projects, and capability building, while creating greater opportunities for students to gain exposure to the pharmaceutical industry.

Our representatives had the opportunity to visit Monash University's School of Pharmacy laboratories and research centres, gaining valuable insights into ongoing research and the university's advanced scientific capabilities. Through an engaging career-sharing session with our team, students also gained practical insights into the recruitment process, including interview preparation, recruiter expectations, and key attributes sought by employers.

This collaboration reflects Novugen's continued commitment to strengthening industry-academia partnerships, nurturing future talent, and supporting pharmaceutical innovation.

We look forward to building on this partnership with Monash University to create meaningful impact in the industry.